The Bath Branch of the American Association of University Women will host women from the Rochester and Elmira areas at 9 a.m. Oct. 17 at the First Presbyterian Church of Bath, 6 E. Morris St., Bath, for a conference, "Women Rising out of Poverty as Entrepreneurs."

The keynote speaker is Marilyn Deane Mendell, an adjunct professor at Georgetown University. The local speakers will include Laura Opelt from Catholic Charities and local entrepreneur, Sandy White, For Claudia's Sayke products.

The $20 admission includes continental breakfast and lunch catered by Jane Russell's Around the Corner Catering, and the registration to the conference.

The AAUW will offer spaces for five local young women to attend as guests with a paid grant. Those interested in attending who would like to be one of the grant recipients may email Debdi Deats at ddeats13@mail.com. For registration information, contact Shirley Herrick at herrbath@verizon.net.
